Anti-Media Projects

I have skill in computers, skills putting together ideas well and skills in using a variety of media. I am seeking those interested in creating serious oppositional media - expressions that are so powerful, so unique and so outside the rules that they cannot be incorporated into the system itself.

Rather than demanding particular skills, I seek those who first of all have the attitude that they are willing to try anything, and the desire to create amazing things. If you are willingness to act, all else will follow. Our projects will be similar to "art" but we do not aim for any esthetic immortality.
